DESCRIPTION · EOLE

"Explorers of invisible waves, three jugglers come together to summon the winds
Wich set the world in motion and deconstruct the landscape.
Eole is an ode to the wind, to movement and to the joys of children playing in the wind."

"EOLE" is a show of three jugglers immersed in the movement of air, in the dancing of the wind.

THE COLLECTIVE

Eole project is a collective of artists, jugglers, dancers and performers who come together around a common interest in movement, air and wind.

They are artists with different outlooks but with a specific style of club juggling.

Their research is based on the poetic movement and continuous flow of the wind.

The idea has been inspired by the observation of windturbines and windmills.

The origin of the project was a desire to evolve our juggling as well as overcoming the challenges faced when working as part of a collective.

It is from this dynamic that the jugglers started to develop a technical repertoire and a common vocabulary.
